

In addition, HXJH brand medical atomizer, our company would like to offer you two other Juhong's products! First one is the organic HXJH Huazhou Juhong beverage granules.

If you search the information of Huazhou Juhong on the internet, you might find many vendors for Huazhou Juhong tea or Huazhou Juhong fruit slices. I must emphasize here that our HXJH Huazhou Juhong is very different from them because we are offering organic Huazhou Juhong beverage granules. Our product is very high quality and we can provide official certificates! Attached are the "Organic Certificate" and test reports of our organic HXJH Huazhou Juhong. Due to the fact that we intend to explore the overseas market from the first place, so it is why we imposed strict control at the very beginning!

First of all, I need to point out that the effect of organic Huazhou Juhong beverage granules is much better than those ordinary Huazhou Juhong fruit slices. It is because the way how we produce beverage granules is using the principle of traditional Chinese medicine wall-breaking technology, which is a technology that uses supersonic airflow to crush the plant cells and turn the traditional Chinese medicine into uniform and dry particles without destroying the active ingredients and retaining the properties of traditional Chinese medicine. It is pollution-free. The broken-wall TCM granules have the advantages of being more efficient, safer, environmentally friendly, easy to store and carry, and convenient to take. They can fully utilize the medicinal materials, make the active ingredients fully analyze, and be easily absorbed by the human body.

Besides the great effects on lungs, Huazhou Juhong also has a remarkable effect on calming the liver. Because the effect of the granules is faster than that of general slices steeped in tea. Furthermore, some consumers had shared their experiences after they have used our Huazhou Juhong beverage granules before and after they drink alcohol. Many of them told me that they can drink more than usual and most important is that they wouldn't get bad hangover as in the past!

Secondly, I would like to give you a further understanding of this very precious medicine "Huazhou Juhong". This is a kind of citrus fruit that can only grow in the special soil containing limestone and trace elements in China. The "Huazhou Juhong" has a very fragrant taste and has been a tribute to the royal court since the Ming Dynasty in China. The yield of this fruit is very low, but it can effectively eliminate fatigue and has many other amazing effects when used to make tea!

HXJH Huazhou Juhong is a Rutaceae plant and it is produced in the local area of Huazhou, Guangzhou. The soil is rich in Lapis Chloriti and various trace elements. Its flowers and fruits have soft and fluffy, and the aroma is fragrant, making it a national geographical indication protected product. Our company adopts organic Huazhou Juhong, inherits the unique processing technology, combines with high-tech processes to produce Huaxia Juhong series products. Without any auxiliary materials, it maintains its original quality and taste. "Huazhou Juhong" has been used as the main component of traditional Chinese medicine to fight against COVID-19. This unique fruit is the top of the ten southern Chinese herbal medicines. Now we use high-tech technology to extract this fruit into essential oil and deliver it directly to the lungs through atomization. The effect is extraordinary! In the post-epidemic era, it is especially effective for patients with COVID-19 infection, helping to improve lung immunity!

Unlike other products on the market, our products are organic, ensuring that organic HXJH Huazhou Juhong beverage granules do not contain synthetic ingredients. This imply that we are providing consumers with the most healthy Huazhou Juhong product!

Miraculous Effects:

The miraculous effects of "Huazhou Juhong" (Hua Zhuan or Ju Gan (L.) Osbeck) in relieving cough and reducing phlegm come from the fact that the grapefruit has absorbed the essence of rare herbs (as well as other minerals such as magnesium) over thousands of years. Therefore, the effect is extraordinary! This stone is used in the field of medicine.

Its main functions are: reducing phlegm, relieving cough, digesting food, qi-descending, and calming the liver.

Indications: It is used to treat refractory phlegm accumulation, constipation, mania and convulsions, cough and shortness of breath, accumulation of phlegm and saliva, and to clear sticky phlegm that is difficult to clear.

The Encyclopedia mentioned that "Huazhou Juhong" is a good medicine for treating stubborn phlegm and relieving cleanliness obsession. It can remove phlegm and relieve coughing.

In China, we have long history for using "Huazhou Juhong" to treat cough and asthma! The record of "Huazhou Juhong" in the Guangxu period of the Qing Dynasty said that "Huazhou Juhong" can expel phlegm like magic. With the increasingly serious urban pollution in modern cities, people with weak constitution are prone to cough. If there are symptoms of wheezing and phlegm, long-term use of "Huazhou Juhong" can relieve cough, asthma and phlegm. People with chronic cough and asthma should always have this soup at home.

Li Shizhen, the most famous acupuncturist, herbalist, naturalist, pharmacologist, and medical scientist in China in the Ming Dynasty, wrote in the Compendium of Materia Medica that "Huazhou Juhong" has a double effect of relieving cough and phlegm. Like other drugs, the longer it is used, the better the effect is. This role is quite important.

Another remarkable effect for the elderly smokers is clearing the throat and moistening the lungs. Many people who smoke often suffer from throat dryness, persistent dry cough, mouthwash, dry heaves, and bad breath, which are all symptoms of chronic pharyngitis. Chronic pharyngitis has attracted clinical attention due to its high morbidity rate, numerous complications, and difficult treatment. "Huazhou Juhong" has a remarkable effect in the treatment of chronic pharyngitis. It can clear the throat, moisten the lungs, and relieve coughing. The efficacy of its treatment of chronic pharyngitis lies in its unique antibacterial, antiviral, anti-inflammatory, coughing relieving, and phlegm-reducing properties. This is the main effect!

The rich flavonoids in citrus can accelerate the oxidation of alcohol (intoxication), make ethanol lose its toxicity, constrict and protect the gastrointestinal mucosa, and slow down the absorption of alcohol. It has a certain therapeutic effect on acute alcohol poisoning, quickly sober up, and relieve discomfort caused by drunkenness. It is easy to use, simple, and has good results. "Huazhou Juhong" can rapidly increase the content of ethanol dehydrogenase and acetaldehyde dehydrogenase in the liver, achieving the purpose of rapid sobering up.

In addition, "Huazhou Juhong" can also treat indigestion. If you have too much fish and meat that can't be digested, you might as well try "Huazhou Juhong". It is rich in oil and has a gentle stimulating effect on the gastrointestinal tract, which is beneficial for the discharge of gastrointestinal gases and promotes the secretion of gastric acid, helping digestion. In addition, it also contains volatile oil, inositol, vitamin B1, flavonoids, etc., which can promote the secretion of gastric acid and help digestion.